

Stiffling competition is not the American way. It's time big business has competition for a healthy economy.